Re: New Plantings Update

Our Maintenance team finished pulling the geraniums last week and planted new flowers that were specifically chosen to extend the life of the colorful coverage. We've not used these before but Paul Jones and Don Kappauf spent a significant amount of time working with the nursery and doing research on our soil and heat/rain tolerant plants that will last longer, grow larger and fill in the spaces faster. This should reduce the number of plantings we do each year and provide us with more abundant colorful coverage.

These plants are young so it may take a while for them to grow and fill in the open spaces so please be patient with us.

And a big Thank You to Paul and Don for all the research you did. We appreciate you taking your time to do that research for our community.
